

Lightly used French American Beaudoin press (36" x 60" bed) in excellent condition. This is a large, solid and reliable press.

American French Tool presses have the reputation of being the world's finest etching presses. Designed and built by Andre Beaudoin for over 25 years, these fine presses are now manufactured by Conrad Machine Company of Whitehall, Michigan. Utilizing solid steel rolls and heavy steel frames, American French Tool presses are the only presses many printmakers will use to print exacting heavy pressure photogravure prints.

These presses can be used for printing etching, type high wood blocks, collographs, and monotypes. The press bed plate has carefully designed safety devices to prevent the bed from coming off the press. Almost the entire length of the press bed can be used.

Skids have been mounted under the press so it can be winched up onto a flatbed truck for easy transportation. It is currently in a Live Oak studio.

New this press sells for $16,770 (plus tax and transportation from Michigan). The cost of this press is $10,500.
