Please join us for a special guest artist lecture featuring a panel of artists from the San Francisco Poster Syndicate, including Art Hazelwood, co-founder of the SFPS.

The Poster Syndicate will give a public lecture on political art and activism, describing their history, organizing style and process. This wide ranging discussion will present an overview of the group's activities from the perspectives of five participants within the Poster Syndicate. Each of the presenters will weave together the activities of Poster Syndicate through the lens of their own focus on art and politics; Union organizing, public art, homeless rights, public education and climate activism. How can political art be a useful tool in this moment of catastrophe? Audience Q & A to follow after the lecture.

This is a special event in conjunction and in support of the exhibition: RISE UP! A Poster Call to Action currently on view in Gallery 212, May 1-23, 2025.
